SUMMER CLUB HOLDS SEPTEMBER PICNIC

FIFTY JANESVILLE WOMEN ATTEND ENJOYABLE EVENT AT FOOTVILLE ON THURSDAY.

PLAN MARCH MEETING

University Extension Department Experts May Have Charge of Two Days' Mid-Winter Session.

(By Mrs. Abbie Helms.) The Summer club of Home Economics held their September picnic with the ladies of Footville on Thursday, Sept. 9. The meeting was held in the Christian church where a delicious luncheon was served at noon, by the ladies of the church. About fifty went from Janesville by train and others came from nearby towns by auto or conveyance.

The meeting was called to order soon after one o'clock by the president, Mrs. V. E. Campbell, of Evansville. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Morse, and other business transacted. As the club had joined the State Federation it was proposed to raise the dues of 10 cents per capita for that purpose by an assessment of 10 cents from each member. And this amount was collected from those present, by the treasurer. A motion was passed that an effort be made to collect this amount from each person belonging to the club and Janesville members are asked to send their dinner to Mrs. Whitney Fisher, Mrs. Morse, or Mrs. A. C. Campbell, as soon as possible.

An entertaining reading, "Grandma's Album" was given by Miss Belle Campbell of Janesville, and a novel whistling solo by Footville lady, was a pleasing number on the program. Mrs. Whitney Fisher gave a very instructive paper on Agriculture in the Bible. She spoke of the classes of farmers and husband men mentioned in the scriptures and the kind of work they did: of the kinds of agricultural implements named in the holy writ. She said that agriculture had its first impetus under the reign of Pharaoh in the fertile valleys of the Nile and that the parable of the sower was perhaps the favorite one of those given.

Mrs. Rumrill then gave a report of the philanthropic branch of the club activities in which she said that this was the banner year of the work. She spoke of the interest shown by the Janesville people in the children of the theatre, given by Manager Zanias that the children might see the play of Cinderella; of the picnic where the fruit and ice cream was donated by interested friends for the children's enjoyment; and the clothing and other supplies furnished for them. One woman rose after Mrs. Rumrill's remarks and stated that she was staying with them last seven pounds in the two weeks, thus showing that he responded to the change and country air. Four new members were voted into the club.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Walter Helms, Miss Elizabeth Patterson and Miss Helen Welch was appointed to arrange for such an affair if feasible. The club will please the attendance of at least one hundred ladies at the meetings to secure the free services of these expert teachers for the session.

But the electric company of Janesville has offered the free use of cooking appliances and of the electricity for the meetings and it seems as if a very pleasant and profitable affair could be planned to take place at this time.

VALUED OLD PAPERS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Some Edited By Immortal Horace Greeley Presented By Mrs. Marshall.

A collection of rare old newspapers has been acquired by the Janesville Public Library. They are the gift of Mrs. Harriet Marshall. Included are several edited by the famous Horace Greeley and published in 1820 and a number of copies of the Albany, an English colonial and foreign weekly of 1885. One of the copies of the New Yorker, of which Greeley was editor, contains a description of the inauguration ceremonies and address of William Seward as governor of the state of New York.

The collection is materially different from the general run of papers of the present day. There are no catchy headlines, the flaming streamer which spreads across the top of page one, nor the sensational stories and indicated feature articles which predominate today. The news stories are written in essay form, printed closely in the type, very fine. There are no advertisements.

Delightful Romantic Drama Shown in Film Form Last Evening at Myers Theatre.

Miss Florence Reed, a newcomer in the motion picture world, but who is most favorably known on the legitimate stage, appeared in film for the first time before a Janesville audience last evening at Myers Theatre. In one of the most delightful pictures the Metro Programs have released in Janesville. The picture was taken from the great romantic story, "Her Own Way" by George Fitch, and contained the most delightful scenes. Miss Reed demonstrated the highest ability as a screen actress and will be welcomed in any future releases which may be shown here.

"Her Own Way" will be shown at Myers Theatre again this evening.

BELOIT SALVATIONISTS ARE EXPECTED TONIGHT

Beloit Salvation Army corps will visit Janesville tonight. Major C. N. Boyd, the divisional officer from Milwaukee who conducted the meeting here last night, will be in command again tonight. He will be supported by Mrs. Boyd and Ensign and Mrs. Jas. Stamp of Beloit, besides Capt. and Mrs. Frank Pierce of the local corps. One of the very best meetings this corps has had for years is expected. The street meeting will be held at 7:30 at the corner of Milwaukee and Franklin streets, and at eight o'clock the band will march to their splendid barracks on North Main street. A good attendance is expected and all are welcome.

HAVE HARD TIME TO FIND SEATING ROOM

High School Authorities Find Assembly Room Too Small to Accommodate Students Conveniently.

High school authorities are facing a problem this year that has never before caused any trouble. With an enrollment past the 470 mark, and with over 500 students expected, members of the faculty and school board are perplexed on what to do for seating. For the present, seats are being moved next to each other to form additional rows. Doing this is not entirely satisfactory to the students, as it congests the quarters for the President of the board of education, Dr. S. B. Buckmaster, visited the school recently and remarked that possibly a new addition will be necessary in another year.

This congestion is found in the classrooms as well as in the assembly hall, and in many cases more so. In the freshman algebra classes, the room is taxed to its capacity. The main room was originally built to accommodate 450 students, and the additional fifty will crowd the building considerably. The matter was discussed over by the board members and may possibly be discussed at the next board meeting.

To the year of the high school is considerable space, when an addition could be erected, in this way many more students could be accommodated. The authorities look for an increase in the number of students about the city and find similar trouble in many grades.

HOLD TWO SUSPECTS AT THE CITY HALL

Chief of Police Champion took two suspects into custody this morning on suspicion and both were being held at the jail this afternoon. In one case the chief arrested a man named P. E. Powers and interrogated him for an hour in hopes of obtaining information from him that would fix the blame for the Blodgett robbery. The police suspect that man of short stature, dark complexion, for the Blodgett robbery and Powers fitted the description except that he was several inches too short of the Bertillon measurements.

While being questioned Chief Champion found that the watch carried by Powers, which was identified by Edward Marshall of this city, was the one stolen from him several weeks ago. The property was returned this morning. Powers was unable to answer the questions put to him satisfactorily and was locked up and will be interviewed again this afternoon.

Dan Smith of Janesville was also hooked at the station, but the police did not reveal his freedom, was held against him other than he was held as a suspect for the several house robberies, including the one at the Irwin residence.

STORM DOES DAMAGE IN CENTRAL STATES

Telephone Office at Broadhead Struck, But Flames Are Extinguished By Girl—Milwaukee In Dark.

The severe storm shortly before noon today did considerable damage throughout the central states, from Iowa to Michigan. The rain coupled with a heavy wind swept across the Mississippi river near the Wisconsin-Illinois border, doing considerable damage to crops and property in this state and northern Illinois. Extensive damage at Shullsburg and other western cities in the state have been reported. No details can be secured, wires being torn down from Broadhead to the west. At Broadhead the telephone office was struck by lightning. The operators extinguished the blaze before it had gained much headway.

At Milwaukee darkness prevailed for several hours today. Shop windows were illuminated by candles, and the lights, and automobiles and street cars were forced to turn on the lights. There was also a heavy hail storm. The same conditions have been reported from Manitowish and Sheboygan.

The storm of Wednesday caused much damage to crops in Rock county. The hailstones, which were bacco leaves into strips in many places, ruining portions of the crops in this district.

A BIG DECREASE SHOWN IN EXPORT OF SWISS WATCHES

Zurich, Switzerland, Sept. 10.—The exports of Swiss watches in 1914 show a decrease in value of more than $12,000,000 as compared with the previous year. But for the readiness with which Swiss manufacturers adapted themselves to the changed conditions, their losses would have been still greater.

REVIEW OF TROOPS BY WAR OFFICIALS

Sir John French, Lord Kitchener and French War Minister Inspect Three Battalions of English Recently.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

British Headquarters in France, Sept. 10.—Officers who have been through the campaign since its start at Mons a year ago speak of the recent review of the British troops at the front as one of the most inspiring scenes they have ever witnessed. The spot was a parade ground not many miles from the trenches. Three battalions of Guards made a wait of about half an hour in the heat of the ground of sward and hills, at a review in England they would have formed a most brilliant display in their gorgeous parade uniforms—these famous crack regiments offered by some of the famous families of England. Again and again their ranks had been thinned and refilled. Officers of the old regular army who had come as spectators recognized familiar faces of the survivors among the officers and saw many strange faces who had taken the place of those who had fallen.

But the Guards are still the Guards. "Scots or Irish Grenadiers or Coldstream," said one of the officers, Lord Kitchener and M. Millerand, the French minister of war, who were seen inspecting the British front to the review them. It was the second visit to the front paid by "K" as every officer calls him.

Scene Thrilling.

Sir John French appeared first, walking across the parade ground to the reviewing station where he welcomed Lord Kitchener and M. Millerand who arrived in a big motorcade. Perhaps there were in all fifty spectators, mostly officers stationed in the neighborhood, of a scene which had a thrill for all that no review in England watched by a big concourse, including gaily dressed women ever had. Not a woman was present, not a civilian except the correspondents. The bright sun was shining, five or six thousand feet overhead a British plane was patrolling the air in a great circle that marked the ceremony.

As the secretaries of war of England and France faced the Guards their bayonets rose at present arms in gleaming rigid lines. Lord Kitchener's "K" made him hardly discernible against the wall of khaki as the party walked the length of the front ranks in inspection. M. Millerand in his black suit with short coat and his black traveling hat and trousers slouched into a pair of gaiters was a distinct moving black point. When they returned to the reviewing station the band struck up the Marsellaise and while Lord Kitchener and Sir John and the other officers stood at the salute that one civilian figure in this military scene stood uncovered.

Many Veterans.

Then with the march past the band played the airs associated with the regiment whose companies were going by. One officer at the head of his veterans was conspicuous because he saluted with his left hand. His right sleeve was empty. Guardsmen must be tall; and some of the giants were taller than Lord Kitchener himself. A number of the men in the ranks had fought at Mons and on the Aisne and survived, too, from the first and second battles of Ypres. Others had yet to see a baton. Every rifle, every hand that held a rifle, every foot as it was lifted seemed perfectly in line.

The Guards still know how to march past though they have been to war for a year," said a staff officer who had been in the Guards.

As the last company was going past the band of music was heard. All the chaunters of the party were cracking up their cars. It is well known that "K" wants no time wasted by

SOX PENNANT TEST COMES AT BOSTON

Sox Troupe Pirates in Poor Game. Cubs Win in Exhibition Game at McHenry.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Pittsburgh, Sept. 10.—Saturday the Sox open a five game series with the Red Sox, which promises to have a vital result on the pennant race in the American league. Yesterday the Sox won a burlesque game from the Pirates by the score of 9 to 1 and the combat went only eight innings. The Sox hit two Pirate recruits, Jili and Kelly, almost at will, and ran bases wild on Catcher Davis. The Sox recruit from Columbus, reached a good game despite rotten support. John McKrittick, of the Chicago Greys, shortstop, made his first trip with the Sox.

Cubs Win Exhibition.
McHenry, Ill., Sept. 10.—Heinie Zimmerman pitched against the McHenry team in an exhibition game in the last innings and the Cubs won by the top-heavy score of 10 to 7. Zabel started the game and then went to first base, where Zimmerman was frolicking around, and kidding the home team. Two southpaws were the victims of the Cubs' assault. Bubba Hargraves lived up to his reputation as being the world's greatest exhibition pitcher by getting four hits and only one of them was a single.

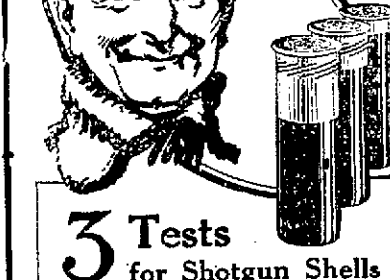

Phillies Going Still.
Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 10.—Philadelphia made their third straight victory in winning the second of the motor boat races for the national championship and the Wright cup, when the big racer covered the thirty mile course in 23:05.15, or at the rate of fifty-four and four-tenths miles an hour. The previous record for the distance was at the rate of fifty and one-half miles an hour, made by Skipper Demon II, at Lake George, N. Y., in 1914.

DISTURBER IV MAKES NEW MOTOR BOAT RECORD

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 10.—Disturber broke all records on Thursday in winning the second of the motor boat races for the national championship and the Wright cup, when the big racer covered the thirty mile course in 23:05.15, or at the rate of fifty-four and four-tenths miles an hour. The previous record for the distance was at the rate of fifty and one-half miles an hour, made by Skipper Demon II, at Lake George, N. Y., in 1914.

Miss Detroit, which finished second to Disturber in 34:15, also excelled in speed when she won the race, making the course at the rate of fifty-two and one-half miles an hour. Peter Pan VII was third in 46:50.45, losing four minutes in getting started for the race. Barnacle and Black Demon were starters, but did not finish.

The St. Louis Browns have taken another catcher from the Louisville club. Vern Clemens, being the man, it is announced that five players will be given in exchange, the selection to be made next spring. Last fall the Browns bought Clemens from Louisville and expected him to be the first string catcher this year, but sickness has kept him out of the game much of the time. Clemens has been with Louisville for three seasons past.

PICK-UP NINE GIVES BELOIT HARD COMBAT

Even George Caldwell Plays at First and Drives Out a Hit Scoring Two Runs—Cardinal Line-up for Sunday.

Yesterday a pickup nine composed of four Janesville players, including George Caldwell, manager of the Cardinals, journeyed out to Monroe and there grabbed off a few more players, comprising a team under the name of the All-Stars, and the combination came near drubbing the Beloit Fairies, losing nine to six. Janesville fans would gloat over the score had the Cardinals managed to beat in the field against the Fairies, for the Fairies' morale team played as rotten a game as did the All-Stars.

"Kittie" Knight, an old leaguer, picked for the Janesville aggregation, with Hill and Shullsburg behind the bat. Knight held the Fairies down to seven hits, and but for a collection of boots in the second inning would have made the Fairies ashamed of themselves. George Caldwell, who has not had a baseball suit since his palmy high school days, played first base in his two base walk in the fifth inning scored two runs, making the score 6 to 4, was one of the features of the game. James Stewart played short, Wilson at second, and "Matty" Ryan at third. Chamberlain, sub on the Cardinals' team, played in the field with Shakes of Monroe and Simpson. The Beloit nine had the regulars on the diamond with Jack Wooton pitching.

For the Beloit game Sunday with the Fairies, the following line-up was announced: Pitching, Bob Fuchs; p. Bridges; c. Lenahan; 1b. Blake; 2b. Hyland; ss. Kernan; 3b. Curtis; Nelson and Lampert, fielders. Lenahan played with the Cardinals two years ago and has just finished the season in a northern league. He cannot be beat as a fielder, and reports show that his batting has improved 50 per cent. Last year he managed the Beloit North End team, and the Cardinals have secured a prize in him. Bridges caught one game here and is a skilled man with the big mitt. The Janesville men were unable to secure Delaney, the Chicago catcher, for Sunday's game. Pint reports have it that Beloit will have three new players, including Mike O'Day, a leaguer who is being landed him a job at the Fairbanks-Morse plant.

The Detroit club is said to have secured the promise of Dick Conway, the St. Thomas college star, to join the Tigers after he graduates next June. Hugh Jennings wanted Conway, but the youngster determined to finish his college course before taking up professional ball. He is playing ball with an independent team in Montana this summer, but taking pains to preserve his amateur status, of course.

PREDICT BIG YEAR FOR BLUE ELEVEN

Football Prospects are Brighter Than Usual at Yale—Plenty of Good Material for Team.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New Haven, Conn., Sept. 10.—Yale coaches regard the outlook on the gridiron as the most encouraging which any captain has faced since Yale last defeated both Harvard and Princeton. This was in the season of 1909, under Ted Coy. The remaining back field material in the veterans, Captain A. C. Wilson, Harry Le Gore, O. S. Guernsey, M. Scoville, Billy Easton, and "Eddie" Waite. "Bunny" Burger, the hockey team captain who was halfback two years ago, and Malcolm, substitute halfback last fall, with "Bey" Thompson, Eingham and Hutchinson, half backs of the freshman eleven last fall, are other candidates.

Wilson Doubtful.
Where Captain Wilson will be played this season is uncertain. One of the greatest problems will be to develop fast heavy ends. Wilson has reported for practice, tipping the scales at 32 pounds. He was used at end during considerable of the spring practice. Another heavy line-man who will go out to end for a trial is Carl Betts. He played the big end at Yale last fall at tackle, but is very fast, and is more likely to be used at end than at tackle this season. Yale has for end material Higginbotham, Wiedeman, Potter, Church, and Nichols of last year's squad. Wiedeman and Church were originally tackles. Moseley and Allen, ends of the freshman team last year, are a pair of excellent novices.

Yale has a wealth of tackle to tackle material. Big Dick Kent, who made a splendid reputation while at Stead College, Chub Sheldon, a former Van Dusen, varsity substitutes last year, and Baldrige, freshman tackle last season and former. Andover star, are satisfactory varsity material from last year. Had it not been for injuries Von Holt and Sheldon would have been regulars on the eleven last year.

Plenty for Line.
For the middle of the line Carl White, regular center last fall, and Wiley, who played in several games last season, and Vorys, the freshman center, are the most promising candidates.

Yale's coaching staff will this year be the largest ever gathered to drill an Eli eleven. Hinkley, Bull, "Red" Dunbar and Billy Starling are salaried men. Dunbar fills the position of line defensive coach. This was originally cast for "Pudge" Heffelfinger, who accepted it last winter, but who found himself unable for business reasons to come to New Haven last fall. Dunbar was a graduate from Yale several years ago, after having played center rush and tackle and having pitched two years for the Yale nine. He has been line coach at Notre Dame for three seasons and has shown remarkable versatility as a defensive coach. Marting was coach of the Yale center line last season. The resident coaching staff will include "Red" Brann, Percy Cornish, coach of the quarterbacks last year; Kate Wheeler, coach of the freshmen last fall; Nelson Talbot, captain and tackle last year; and Ted Driscoll and Pat Osborn, who were substitutes last fall.

YOUNG SCOTTY BOXES IN KILBANE-MITCHELL MILL ON SEPT. 21ST

Milwaukee, Sept. 10.—In order to develop some good preliminary talent, the Cream City A. C. will dispense with a semi-windup at its Kilbane-Mitchell show on Sept. 21 and stage four bouts of six rounds each. Two of these have already been signed up. Young Scotty of Jones Island, will meet Billy Finley of Chicago at 121 pounds, and Joe Kutnar will face on Leo Stone, brother of Harry Stone, at 122 pounds. The other two bouts have not been selected.

DON'T READ THIS UNLESS YOU CAN REALLY APPRECIATE A 21-KARAT FISH STORY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
LaCrosse, Wis., Sept. 10.—The most polite fish in the state are to be found near here in the Mississippi river. Bert A. Jolivet, keeper of the La Crosse county, says he hooked a pickerel the other day. The fish broke the line, carrying off the artificial bait. He was disconcertingly threading a new hook with a worm, when something cut the water with a splash, jumped into the weeds on the bank, and then jumped back into the water. Jolivet ran to see what was the cause of the commotion. He found his spoon hook had been returned, unharmed by the pickerel.

The new Yankee owners already have spent about $45,000 in the purchase of minor leaguers—and the end isn't yet, as they say in Boston. Among the really promising players secured are Allan Russell, pitcher, and Outfielder Gilmore, who played with the Yanks during the regime of Frank Chance.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Sept. 10.—One of the freaks of Wednesday storm occurred at the Wesondunk farm, near Lake Koshkonong when the lightning struck a large stack of hay and set fire to the stack. The lightning bolt struck the stack to the center, leaving a hole about the size of a dollar and set fire in the center of the stack and for the timely arrival of the men on the farm a bad blaze might have resulted.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

Sixteen weeks ago "The Lady in Red," a musical attraction, entered the city. M. Coban Grand Opera House, Chicago, in a very quiet manner, but after its first performance became the talk of the town, and its pretty tunes could be heard in every cafe in the Windy city.

Windy city, in commenting upon "The Lady in Red," Amy Leslie of the Daily News says: "Even with Ravinia bursting into symphony according to orchestra perfection, there is no better music, nor any more carefully accented vocal art than is demonstrated in 'The Lady in Red'—altogether there arrives at the Grand one of the most evenly balanced, delightful entertainments the year has revealed." The Hattons of the "Herald" wrote: "The Lady in Red" is good entertainment, the nearest approach to a musical play that we have had in many, many weeks. It has a score that is musically and invariably useful and the book that is interesting. Add thereto a happy concert of principals and a costly and tasteful production." Percy Hammond of the Tribune said: "In case there is a yearning hereabouts for an entertainment involving pretty music, pretty clothes with pretty girls in them, and an attractive prima donna who can sing, dance and act, this fallible foreigner shall point to a rendezvous with 'The Lady in Red'." Aston Stevens of the Examiner expressed himself thus: "There is a lovely score, and there is actually a story—an American story, with good lyrics, but above everything else—even above the good singing and acting of a competent company—is a wholly artistic production in which beautiful scenery and beautiful costumes and beautifully blended you take home with you not only ad-hoc melodies but unfading pictures." Charlie Collins of the Evening Post says: "The Lady in Red" is an earful and eye-ful of gay entertainment, and it deserves a mouthful of praise." The Journal's critic, O. L. Hall, writes: "In picture, song, humor and dialogic treacle of musicalize romance 'The Lady in Red' is an entirely successful show."

"The Lady in Red" comes to the Myers theatre Saturday, matinee and night, with the original all star cast, chorus and production.

DUMBA'S RECALL.
President Wilson, through his secretary of state, Mr. Lansing, signifies to the Austro-Hungarian empire that their official representative in this country, Dr. Dumba, is "persona non grata" and desires his recall. It is not an unusual step although not in the ordinary line of diplomatic relations between two nations. It has occurred before in the history of this country's relations with foreign powers and is liable to happen again. However, just at this time it is perhaps unfortunate, owing to conditions that exist across the Atlantic. However as the Chicago Herald states:

"President Wilson has taken the proper and only possible action in the case of Dr. Dumba, connived at and plotted to destroy our industrial peace. He, as the representative of a belligerent nation, sought to transfer the European war to our neutral land. He approved the subordination of citizenship and sought to cheapen or vitiate the oath of allegiance taken by former residents of his fatherland to the land in which they are living. He violated the ethics of hospitality, sought secretly to embarrass the government to which he is accredited, flagrantly set at naught the code of diplomatic propriety, and conspired to cripple our industries and destroy our legitimate trade."

For these reasons Dr. Dumba must go. If Austria in view of all these facts, will not recall him, he must be expelled. "There should be a lesson in this action by President Wilson to all men and divers gentlemen in Washington who are here on sufferance and whose tenure of residence depends not only on a proper conception of their duties as ambassadors to their own countries, but their obligations to the land to which they are accredited."

PLAIN MATHEMATICS.
Former Governor McGovern breaks into print again with another decided statement that the Philipp administration is not economical. The "Tax Eaters" are seeking every opportunity to bolster up the claims that the Philipp plans for economy are being upset by the expenditure of what they term useless money. There is a decided bit of humor in the situation when one stops and considers McGovern's attitude and really it is pathetic to listen to the long drawn out platitudes of the man who has managed progressive administrations of the past. It is merely a matter of arithmetic in deciding the issue between McGovern and Philipp. For example, The appropriations of the 1914 legislature, the McGovern economy regime, was $30,743,498. In the 1915 legislature, just finished the appropriations totaled $26,752,245. Figure it out for yourself, and then smile at McGovern's charge of extravagance. Think it over Mr. Tax Payer, it is your money that was saved and if all the program of the governor had been carried out more would have been on credit side. However, the "Tax Eaters" who now seek to belittle the governor, checked his economy plan because it did not meet with their approval. On one side is an example of high taxation and on the other economical administration of state affairs for the benefit of the tax payer.

SOUTHERN MOBOCRACY.
"When mobs are no longer possible liberty will be dead," declared Cole Bleasie, former governor of South Carolina to the convention of governors now in Boston, Mass. "In the South an aroused mob is an outraged community which carries out the law, but brushes aside with mighty force the law's technicalities and delays," he added. At these words Fannull Hall, the cradle of American liberty, shuddered from turret to foundation stone, and the bones of Samuel Adams clattered like castanets. But who in historic old Boston could compare with Cole Bleasie as an apostle of liberty? Is he not the Jail-Deliverer of blessed memory to some hundreds of the persecuted apaches of South Carolinians for the highest honor the State could confer because it commands a respectable following—respectable in number only. So much for the South Carolina Democracy and its notions of orderly government.

In a town in Mississippi, recently, they declared a holiday and held a hanging bee. As an instance of the progress which that State has made since its admission to the Union in 1817 it is only fair to say that two negroes who starred in the theatricals on this occasion had been legally (so far as Mississippi legality went) permitted adjudged guilty and sentenced to death. Lynching was in high favor a short while ago. We are told that the hanging took place in a wood reserved for picnics. A large crowd attended. There was a barbecue. The town band enlivened the bosky deils with blithing music. The country swains "fashioned partners" over the velvet greensward. There was laughter, the crackle of peanuts, and the gurgle of liquid-extract-of-deep-throated wildhood down the dusty throats of the sportive bucks assembled. Everyone was in gala-day attire. The village quartet, got in a little close harmony, and their execution was such that everyone favored it. At length, the guests having danced themselves to a standstill and gorged themselves to repletion the time for the main event arrived. The chief actors in this simple sylvan scene were ushered to the stage beneath the gallews. The whites of their eyes rolled with fear and the crowd giggled; they were permitted to address the audience, and were applauded. After this the trap was sprung and these two transients, entertained on this air to the Judgment Seat while the merry throng roared with laughter. The festivities were over, everyone pronounced the holiday a success, and now, perhaps, they look forward to the condemnation of "some more niggers." And such is the Mississippi Democracy and its notions of orderly government.

In Georgia—Leo Frank. The country is familiar with the particulars. They beggar description. The former governor who commuted his sentence to life imprisonment dare not return to his native State. The mayor of Atlanta, at the San Francisco Exposition, publicly gloried in the shame of his State, and a Georgia minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ, renegade to the teachings of Him who forgave the thief on the cross, cursed the perpetrators of that outrage with his blessing. And such is the Georgia Democracy and its notions of an orderly government.

There is an old saying to the effect that that man can best govern others who has learned to govern himself. How infinitely more applicable is that to a State, and those whom it should send to the National legislature to govern the affairs of our beloved country. These States send 27 Democratic Representatives to Congress, and six United States Senators. Thirty-one men holding important committee assignments in the States which, so far as orderly government is concerned, still wallow in the Dark Ages. The Democratic majority in the next house will be about 30, nearly the whole number accounted for by Representatives from these three States. How can a government long endure whose affairs are governed by Representatives of such popular choice?

This term "political ghoules" as referring to conservatives will have no real effect upon the working man who wants to see the "ghost" walk every week instead of once in a while. The full dinner pail appeals to a lot of voters no matter what political affiliation they may have.

Don't burn your old clothing,
Old furniture or shoes;
Don't leave them in the basement
To mold and mildew and rust and
Nor yet up in the attic,
For moths will soon destroy;
Why not do something with them
And fill some heart with joy?

And they will gladly call for them

Don't give them to some dealer

'Tis true they're partly worth;
And perhaps they're out of style,
But they will cover some cold form,
And make some Mother smile.

STEAM TYPE AUTOMOBILE FOR SERVICE IN ALASKA PASSES THROUGH CITY

A unique form of conveyance appeared on our streets a few days ago. It was a four-seated passenger car of the steam type of automobiles. It had come overland from Chicago and was to be shipped by train to Seattle and by boat to Alaska. It has been designed to make a regular trip from Valdez to Fairbanks, Alaska, where a railroad is being built, but is not yet in operation. The three seats in the rear can be removed, thus making a large space for freight or mail, and it seems to be very convenient for the purpose for which it is intended.

ROCK COUNTY THIRD IN MONEY ALLOTTED FOR ROAD BUILDING

Will Receive $25,107 State Aid in 1916 According to Apportionment of Highway Commission.

Rock county will receive $25,107 state highway aid in 1916, according to the apportionment which has just been determined at Madison by the state highway commission. The total amount of the highway appropriation is $885,000, while the total indicated applications for state aid by the counties are estimated at $1,309,434, which means that in no case will the application be granted in full.

Rock county's allotment is the third largest in the state, Milwaukee and Dane counties, with an apportionment of $172,186 and $44,038 respectively, being the two highest. Dodge county comes fourth with $24,842, and then Racine with $22,630.

Apportionment to the other counties is as follows:

ENGAGEMENT DANCE AT THE GOLF CLUB

Mrs. Stanley Smith Entertains in Honor of Miss Helen Jeffries on Thursday Evening.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Stanley B. Smith entertained at a dancing party at the Sni Mississippi Golf club for the younger society people in honor of Miss Helen Jeffries, who is to be married in October to Pierpont J. B. Woods of Montana. The club house was most tastefully decorated with asters and autumn foliage, and the Milwaukee Country club orchestra furnished the inspiration for the musical numbers. Among the out of town guests were Miss Harriet Chapin of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Miss Irene Bartlett of Rockford, and H. W. Shedd, Oliver Pope, Frank E. Johnson, George Casey, of Beloit, and Carl King and William Hoffman of Rockford. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening, and it proved a most enjoyable affair.

Cazale said they would give it out fast enough if they had it to give. By the way, he was surprised to see that the head gardener was the same who had been at Uplands in his father's time; he must be getting an old man, and no doubt shakier on points of detail than he would be likely to admit. Cazale instanced the alleged hearing of the gong as in itself an unconvincing statement. It was well over a hundred yards from the gates to the house, and there were no windows to open in the hall where the gong would be rung.

"I've dreamed of the old spot so often," he said at length. "I'm not thinking of the night before last—I mean in the bush and now to think of a thing like this happening there in the old governor's den, of all places!"

"Seems like a kind of poetic justice," said Hilton Toye. "It does, it is!" cried Cazale, fetching moist yet fiery eyes in from the fields. "I said to you the other night that Henry Craven never was a white man, and I won't unsay it now. Nobody may ever know what he's done to bring this upon him. But those who really knew the man, and suffered for it, can guess the kind of thing."

"Exactly," murmured Toye, as though he had just said as much himself. His dark eyes twinkled with deliberation and debate. "How long is it, by the way, that they gave that clerk and friend of yours?"

A keen look pressed the startling question; at least, it started Cazale. "You mean Scruton? What on earth made you think of him?"

"Talking of those who suffered for being the dead man's friends, I guess," said Toye. "Was it fourteen years?"

"That was it."

"But I guess fourteen doesn't mean fourteen, ordinarily, if a prisoner behaves himself?"

"A little more than ten."

"Then Scruton may be out now?"

"Just."

Toye nodded with detestable aplomb. "That gives you something to chew on," said he. "Of course, I don't say he's our man."

"I should think you didn't!" cried Cazale, white to the lips with sudden fury.

Toye looked disconcerted and distressed, but at the same time frankly puzzled. He apologized none the less readily, with almost ingenuous courtesy and fullness, but he ended by explaining himself in a single sentence, and that told more than the rest of his straightforward eloquence put together.

"If a man had done you down like that, wouldn't you want to fill him the very moment you came out, Cazale?"

The creature of impulse was off at a tangent. "I'd forgive him if he did it, too!" he exclaimed. "I'd move heaven and earth to save him, guilty or not guilty. Wouldn't you in my place?"

"I don't know," said Hilton Toye. "It depends on the place you're in, I guess!" And the keen dark eyes came drilling into Cazale's skull like augers.

"I thought I told you," he explained impatiently. "We were in the office together; he was good to me, winked at the business hours I was inclined to keep, let me down lighter in every way than I deserved. You may say it was part of his game. But I take people as I find them. And then, as I told you, Scruton was ten thousand times more sinned against than sinning."

"Are you sure? If you knew it at the time?"

"I didn't. I told you so the last night."

Well, I mustn't ask questions," said Hilton Toye, and began folding up his newspaper with even more than his usual deliberation.

"Oh, I'll tell you!" cried Cazale ungraciously. "It's my own fault for telling you so much. It was in a letter from Scruton himself that I heard the whole thing. I'd written to him—toward the end—suggesting things. He managed to get an answer through that would never have passed the prison authorities. And—and that's why I came home just when I did," concluded Cazale; "that's why I didn't wait till after shearing. He's been through about enough, and I've had more luck than I deserved. I meant to take him back with me, to keep the books on our station, if you want to know!" The brusque voice trembled.

Toye let his newspaper slide to the floor. "But that was fine!" he exclaimed simply. "That's as fine an action as I've heard of in a long time."

"If it comes off," said Cazale in a gloomy voice.

"Don't you worry. It'll come off. Is he out yet, for sure? I mean, do you know that he is?"

"Scruton? Yes—since you press it—he wrote to tell me that he was coming out even sooner than he expected."

"Then he can stop out for me," said Hilton Toye. "I guess I'm not running for that reward!"

CHAPTER IV.

Down the River.

At Waterloo the two men parted, with a fair exchange of fitting speeches, none of which rang really false. And yet Cazale found himself emphatically unable to make any plans at all for the next few days; also, he seemed in two minds now about a Jermyn Street hotel previously mentioned as his immediate destination; and his step was indubitably lighter as he went off first of all to the loop-line, to make sure of some train or other that he might have to take before the day was out.

In the event he did not take that train or any other; for the new miracle of the new traffic, the new smell of the horseless streets, and the newer joys of the newest of new taxicabs, all worked together and so swiftly upon Cazale's organism that he had a little colloquy with his smart young driver instead of paying him in Jermyn Street. He nearly did pay him off, and with something more than his usual impetuosity, as either a liar or a fool with no sense of time or space.

"But that's as quick as the train, my good fellow!" blustered Cazale.

"Quicker," said the smart young fellow without dipping his cigarette, "if you were going by the old Southwest-ern!"

The very man, and especially the manners that made or marred him, was entirely new to Cazale as a product of the old country. But he had come from the bush, and he felt as though he might have been back there but for the smell of petrol and the cry of the motor-horn from end to end of those teeming gulches of bricks and mortar.

He had accompanied his baggage just as far as the bureau of the Jermyn Street hotel. Any room they liked, and he would be back some time before midnight; that was his card, they could enter his name for themselves. He departed, pipe in mouth, open knife in one hand, plug tobacco in the other; and remarks were passed in Jermyn Street as the taxi bounced out west in ballast.

But indeed it was too fine a morning to waste another minute indoors, even to change one's clothes, if Cazale had possessed any better than the ones he wore and did not rather glory in his rude attire. He was simply and comfortably drunk with the delight of being back. He had never dreamed of its getting into his head like this; at the time he did not realize that it had.

That was the beauty of his bout. He knew well enough what he was doing and seeing, but inwardly he was literally blind. Yesterday was left behind and forgotten like the Albert Memorial, and to-morrow was still as distant as the sea, if there were such things as to-morrow and the sea.

Meanwhile what vivid miles of dazzling life, what a subtle autumn flavor in the air; how cool in the shadows, how warm in the sun; what a sparkling old river it was, to be sure; and yet, if those weren't the first of the autumn tints on the trees in Castle-nau.

There went a funeral, on its way to Mortlake! The taxi overhauled it at a callous speed. Cazale just had time to tear off his great soft hat. It was actually the first funeral he had seen since his own father's; no wonder his radiance suffered a brief eclipse. But in another moment he was out on Barnes Common.

It had been the bicycle age when he went away; now it was the motor age, and the novelty and contrast were endless to a simple mind under the influence of forgotten yet increasingly familiar scenes. But a thing was lost on Cazale that great morning; even a milk-float entranced him, itself enchanted, with its tall can turned to gold and silver in the sun. But now he was on all but holy ground. It was not so holy with these infernal electric trams; still he knew every inch of it; and now, thank goodness, he was off the lines at last.

"Slower!" he shouted to his smart young man. He could not say that no notice was taken of the command. But a wrought-iron gate on the left, with a covered way leading up to the house, was past and gone in a veritable twinkling.

Five or six minutes later the smart young man was driving really slowly along a narrow road between patent wealth and blatant semi-gentility; on the left good grounds, shaded by cedar and chestnut, and on the right a row of hideous little houses, as pretentious as any that ever let for forty pounds within forty minutes of Waterloo.

"This can't be it!" shouted Cazale. "It can't be here—stop! Stop! I tell you!"

A young woman had appeared in one of the overpowering wooden porticoes: two or three swinging strides were bringing her down the ally little path to the wicket-gate with the idiotic name; there was no time to open it before Cazale blundered up, and shot his hand across to get a grasp as firm and friendly as he gave.

"Blanche!"

"Sweep!"

"They were their two nursery names. hers no improvement on the proper monosyllable, and his a rather dubious token of pristine proclivities. But out both came as if they were children still, and children who had been just long enough apart to start with a good honest mutual stare."

"You aren't a bit altered," declared the man of thirty-three, with a note not entirely tactful in his admiring voice. But his old chum only laughed.

"Fiddle!" she cried. "But you're not altered enough. Sweep, I'm disappointed in you. Where's your beard?"

"I had it off the other day. I always meant to," he explained, "before the end of the voyage. I wasn't going to land like a wild man of the woods, you know!"

"Weren't you? I call it mean."

Her scrutiny became severe, but softened again at the sight of his clutched wide-awake and curiously characterless, shapeless suit.

"You may well look!" he cried, delighted that she should. "They're awful old duds, I know, but you would think them a wonder if you saw where they came from!"

"I'm sorry to interrupt," said Blanche, laughing, "but there's your taxi ticking up twopence every quarter of an hour, and I can't let it go on without warning you. Where have you come from?"

He told her with a grin, was roundly reprimanded for his extravagance, but brazened it out by giving the smart young man a sovereign before her eyes. After that, she said he had better come in before the neighbors came out and mobbed him for a millionaire. And he followed her indoors and up-stairs, into a little new den crowded with some of the big old things he could remember in a very different setting. But if the room was small it had a balcony that was hardly any smaller, on top of that unduly imposing porch; and out there, overlooking the fine grounds opposite, were basket chairs and a table, hot with the Indian summer sun.

"I hope you are not shocked at my abode," said Blanche. "I'm afraid I can't help it if you are. It's just big enough for Martha and me; you remember old Martha, don't you? You'll have to come and see her, but she'll be horribly disappointed about your beard!"

Coming through the room, stopping to greet a picture and a bookcase (filling a wall each) as old friends, Cazale had described a photograph of himself with that appendage. He had threatened to take the beastly thing away, and Blanche had told him he had better not. But it did not occur to Cazale that it was the photograph to which Hilton Toye had referred, or that Toye must have been in this very room to see it. In these few hours he had forgotten the man's existence, at least in so far as it associated itself with Blanche Macnair.

"The others all wanted me to live near them," she continued, "but as no two of them are in the same county it would have meant a caravan. Besides, I wasn't going to be transplanted at my age. Here one has everybody one ever knew, except those who escape by emigrating, simply at one's mercy on a bicycle. There's more golf and tennis than I can find time to play; and I still keep the old boat in the old boat-house at Littleford, because it hasn't let or sold yet, I'm sorry to say."

"So I saw as I passed," said Cazale. "That hit me hard!"

"The place being empty hits me harder," rejoined the last of the Macnairs. "It's going down in value every day like all the other property about here, except this sort. Mind where you throw that match, Sweep! I don't want you to set fire to my pampas-grass; it's the only tree I've got!"

Cazale laughed; she was making him laugh quite often. But the ridiculous little garden in front, was obscured if not overhung by the balcony on which they sat. And the subject seemed one to change.

Corn Limpers! Use "Gets-It" and Smile!

What's the use of spoiling a good time for yourself by limping around with these corns? It's one of the easiest things in the world now to get rid of them. "Gets-It" does it the new way.

That's why "Gets-It" has become the corn remedy of America, the biggest selling corn remedy in the world, preferred by millions. Cold Settled In His Back

"Foley Kidney Pills always give me prompt relief."—Ed Velson, Rogers, Neb.

Ed Velson, of Rogers, Neb., writes: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills for backache, the result of catching cold which settled in my back. Foley Kidney Pills always give me prompt relief and I can cheerfully recommend them."

The reason Foley Kidney Pills act so satisfactorily is because they neutralize and dissolve the poisonous waste matter that remains in the blood because the kidneys do not do their work properly in filtering and casting out from the system uric acid and other poisons.

Relief usually follows in a few days and such symptoms as pain in the sides or back, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatism, too frequent action of the bladder at night, and other painful and annoying ailments disappear. Foley Kidney Pills contain no harmful ingredients. They are safe as well as quick acting.

The artist was of the impressionist school. He had just given the last touches to a purple and blue canvas when his wife came into his studio.

"My dear," said he, "this is the landscape I wanted you to suggest a title for."

"Why not call it 'Home'?" she said, after a long look.

"Home! Why?"

"Because there's no place like it," she replied, meekly.

A Washington man has in his employ a faithful but, at times, stupid servant in the person of an old darky named Zeke.

Recently, when the employer had vainly endeavored to get something done in a certain way, he gave up in despair, exclaiming:

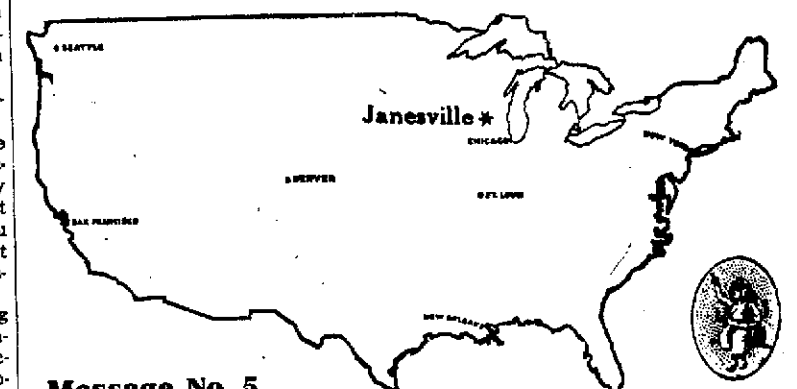

"Zeke! Zeke! Whatever do you think your head is for?"

Zeke, who evidently thought that this was another of the troublesome questions that his employer was always asking, pondered it deeply. Finally he replied:

"Well, boss, I guess it's to keep my collar on."

Message No. 5 To the Business Men of Janesville

The prosperity of a city is in direct proportion to the local pride. Where local pride runs high, prosperity has a firm foothold. Such a town is a good place to live and do business in.

Paint helps to a remarkable degree in spreading an impression of prosperity throughout a community. It gives a fresh, new, inviting look wherever it is used. Municipal buildings, stores and homes feel its good effects. Growing business is bound to be one of the direct results of a liberal use of paint, not from any magic in the paint, but because of the pride which is stimulated.

FORTY-ONE ENROLLED AT TRAINING SCHOOL

County Institution Begins Fifth Year With Good Attendance and Promising Outlook.

The County Teachers' Training School began work again this week for the fifth year of its active operation. There is an enrollment of forty-one, the largest number since the school was first organized. The board planned originally for forty students, believing that this number would represent about all the present quarters. However, there is room for about five more desks, if a few others desire to attend. But application must be made early.

The graduates of 1915 number twenty-six, which is eight more than the class of 1914. If the school graduates from 20 to 25 each year, it will be able to supply the present demand for rural teachers in this county and to supply such demand is the purpose of the school.

The entire school will enjoy a picnic up the river on Monday, and on next Wednesday evening the fifth annual reception to the new students will occur. Superintendent Antedell will welcome the new students to the school and Miss Grace Caldwell of Beloit will respond. Several other numbers will be presented on the program.

On Wednesday the Philomathean Literary society met and elected the following officers:

President—Marie Fox, Edgerton.
Vice-President—Anna Ford, Evansville.

Secretary—Mabel Hill, Avalon.
Treasurer—Lutella Robinson, Janesville.

Program Committee—Ella Jacobson, Elkhorn; Florita Luce, Cuba City; Myrtle Gower, Janesville; Ann Kehoe, Janesville.

Historian—Miss Anna Bennett, Milton. J. Lowth, principal; Ella J. Jacobson and Florita O. Luce, assistants. The supervision of the graduates in their country schools has already been started by the faculty.

The present condition of the school is excellent, and the outlook for the future is bright. Special instruction in the household arts will be started this winter.

Satan's Present-Day Tactics

By REV. J. H. RALSTON
Secretary of Correspondence Department,
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—Having a form of godliness but denying the power thereof. 1 Timothy 4:8.

The words of this text have been very properly used ever since Paul first wrote them in application to formalism in the individual Christian life, as something possible to realize but out of connection with spiritual power. The individual may possess all there is in Christian profession, he may practice everything enjoined as to individual religious life apart from his public profession, he may be of genial disposition, eminently proper in his conduct, and to the world seem to be deeply spiritual, but at the same time be utterly devoid of power.

Satan's Modern Tactics.
But there is an application of the words other than to the individual man. Satan, the malicious adversary of man since his creation, is working today as vigorously as ever and he makes use of the best methods within his power. In the earlier days of ignorance and superstition he worked through terror. He threatened men who would not follow him with death, oftentimes in its most painful and revolting form, and as long as this method worked, for Satan is a pragmatist of the finest type, he employed it.

This method prevailed through many centuries with varying success. At the close of the middle ages Satan used this method through the corrupt Christian church because into that church ignorance and superstition had crept and were dominant, so that autocrats, wheels of torture and other horrible physical tortures were used to make men yield the truth in Christ Jesus. The method of force was not always physical torture. Satan has entered the intellectual field and has tried, by force of human wisdom, to compel men to give up the truth, so we had the days of deists, sceptics and infidels of various kinds. These, however, are merely before us now and anyone that would pose as an open infidel and an opposer of the essentials of Christianity, would have a small following.

The Form of Godliness.
Satan has changed his method, but has the same malice and is determined to ruin the souls of men and women. He does this through emissaries on the earth who have taken on them the form of godliness. Never in the history of the world have there been so many men and societies professing to be the teachers of the truths of the Bible as today, and yet many of these are simply the emissaries of Satan. Paul tells in 2 Cor. 11: 13-15: "For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works."

These men, and sometimes women, pose as teachers of the Word and take to themselves great virtue because they denounce other professed teachers of the Word as insincere, and thus secure a very large following in many cases. Many of these seem to be very sincere themselves and attract many from churches where possibly the pastors are not true to the Word of God and are merely preachers of ethics, or possibly are casting doubts on the authority and integrity of the Holy Scriptures.

Suggested Remedies.
What is the remedy for this evil? We must first test the systems whether they possess the power of God or not. This, in its last analysis, means a holy life and an equally holy spirit, and here the acid test must be welcomed. Of the modern Satanic delusions there is hardly one but breaks down at this point. In all cases the founders of these delusions are not right with God, and are soon known not to be right with man.

From the days of the apostles to the present time there has been a faith once for all delivered to the saints that has not changed. If a person has been reared in the Baptist, Episcopalian, Methodist, Presbyterian, Lutheran, or, indeed, in any one of several other communions, he has certain great truths on which these bodies agree. He may be unfortunate enough not to have a faithful pastor, but he has the teachings of his church, often in printed form, which is substantially true to the gospel. Let him hold to these whatever may be the issue.

Of course, the best answer to these delusions is a comprehensive knowledge of the Bible, but many Christians who do not have this knowledge, and consequently cannot use it, are deluded by these teachers.

ELIJAH'S FLIGHT AND RETURN. (THE STORY)

One of the most significant acts of Elijah's whole life is related in a single verse. "He ran before Ahab to the entrance of Jezreel." He had rebuked the king idolatrous, but now he throws the full weight of his personal and official character on the side of the king penitent. He acts as his outrunner and herald. The queen, from her lattice, saw the chariot coming and Elijah running before it. Though she knew what that generous and patriotic deed signified, it failed to soften her heart. She would never forgive his rebuke and the death of her good son. Jezreel gave Elijah his choice of exile or death. Then it was that it dawned upon the prophet's mind that a nation cannot be reformed in a day. With the revelation came a great revelation of feeling. The scene on Carmel had been grand, but it was as incident merely in the reformation, not the reformation itself. The reformation of a nation is a long and arduous task. FRIENDSHIPS THAT ARE WORTH FOSTERING MAKING THEM, KEEPING THEM.
The stories of David and Jonathan, and Damon and Pythias are the definition of friendship. The sweetness of such intimacy is a perfume that rejoices the heart. It is an essence distilled in heaven's laboratory. It is a flawless mirror reflecting a man's face to himself as it really is. For this reason it is not merely an exquisite pleasure, it is an invaluable asset in one's life. Acquaintance comes by chance, but friendship is made by choice. Such friendships make rifts in one's horizon and open new vistas. A true friendship ought never to be sacrificed on any account. A true friend is not a mere acquaintance for an old one lost. "The friends thou hast and their affection proved, grapple them to thy heart with hooks of steel."

THEODORE BALSEY HELD FOR TRIAL ON SEPT. 17TH

An examination was held in the municipal court this morning, when Theodore Balsey was arraigned on the charge of wife desertion. Mrs. Balsey was released and her husband had not supported her, except in a limited way, for ten years' time. The defendant was bound over for trial on Sept. 17th, and a real hundred dollars bond was demanded. The arrest was made in Whitewater yesterday.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Sept. 10.—A strange and somewhat serious accident occurred yesterday morning about eleven o'clock while blasting on the sewer. The pipes at present are being laid on the creek and it is necessary to blast in some places. While digging in front of John Lindbaum's residence on Main street yesterday it was found necessary to place a charge under some rock. Among some of the things placed on top to force the charge downward was a piece of timber four feet long and about eight inches thick. The force of the explosion went up and this piece of timber was hurled with terrific force through the air and travelled over two blocks over the Norwegian church and struck the roof of the building, tearing a hole through it about six feet square, went down through the ceiling and then broke a couch on which Mrs. Thies was sitting. A few minutes before, but happened to be empty at time of accident.

Quite a number of the lady outers went to Milwaukee yesterday and enjoyed the day.

District Attorney Charles Summer was here from Elkhorn yesterday on business pertaining to the Blank estate.

Chief of Police P. Champion of Janesville, was here yesterday afternoon after Theodore Balsey, who has been working here since he was a boy. He returned to Janesville by motor.

George Wines was at Milton yesterday to visit his brother, Wesley Wines. Word has just been received that the doctor, who is recovering from the effects of his illness, is now able to get about.

A little daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Marshall yesterday weighing eight and three quarters pounds.

Beaver Dam plays ball here Sunday and Monday afternoon. The local team is doing well.

Bob Fick could not be secured to pitch, so Dodge, of Prairie du Sac, will be on the firing line for the locals.

SEEK TO UNITE ALL LUTHERAN CHURCHES

Foreign Mission Work is Considered at General Council Convention of the Lutheran Church.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 10.—The general council of the Lutheran church in America, which is meeting here to represent about 750,000 communicants, will begin its 35th biennial convention here to-morrow. Among the more important matters that will come up for consideration will be Foreign Mission Work, which is particularly strong in the Far East. German Lutheran Missions in India have suffered because since the European war began aid has not been forthcoming from the home country, and on account of this the American Lutherans have been appealed to for help. The problem of the English home missions in Canada is also said to be one of the most pressing matters.

The approach in 1917 of the 400th anniversary of the beginning of the Reformation under Martin Luther, will occupy much attention. A movement is in progress to unite all sections of the Lutheran church in this country in a grand jubilee celebration and, in fact, overtures have been made to have representatives of all protestant churches give special attention to this Quadricentennial Jubilee. A feature of the Lutheran church jubilee is the planning for a large memorial fund to be used for all forms of church work. The proposal will be made to other sections of the church to unite in raising a $10,000,000 fund.
